@Scott

What's bothering me about what you said is the implication that a third party could induce a chain of events such as you've described over the objections of the wife. In your example, you described a no-contact order. Was this slapped on your patient by a judge, sua sponte, or did the wife request it? I'm aware women can be coerced into doing things that plainly aren't in their family's best interests, but again, the implication is you're describing a situation in which once the call is made it doesn't matter what the wife says. That's the point I'd like you to clarify for me.
